

California Department of Public Health

Linda Rudolph, MD, MPH, Deputy Director, California Department of Public Health
Center for Chronic Disease Prevention and Health Promotion

Dr. Linda Rudolph currently serves as Deputy Director, California Department of Public Health, where she oversees the Center for Chronic Disease Prevention and Health Promotion and leads the Department's engagement in critical issues requiring broad cross-sectoral collaboration, such as climate change, obesity prevention, and "health in all policies".

She previously served as the Health Officer and Director of Public Health for the City of Berkeley, Chief Medical Officer for Medi-Cal Managed Care, and Medical Director for the California Division of Workers' Compensation. Dr. Rudolph received her MD from the University of California, San Francisco, and an MPH from UC Berkeley. She sees climate change as the most significant public health challenge of the 21st century.
